

Records Retention and Deletion Policy

Date	Revision & Amendment Details	By Whom
March 2024	Reviewed and approved	Central Executive Team

1. Introduction

- 1.1. The main aim of this policy is to enable Peterborough Diocese Education Trust (the “Trust”) to manage its records effectively and in compliance with data protection law, namely: the UK General Data Protection Regulation (“UK GDPR”), the Data Protection Act 2018 (“DPA 2018”) and other related legal and regulatory requirements.
- 1.2. This policy applies to all our staff, including employees, directors, governors, consultants, external contractors, temporary workers, agency workers, casual workers and volunteers. All such persons must understand and comply with this policy. Failure to do so may subject us, and/or our workforce to civil and/or criminal liability. Any failure to comply with this policy may result in disciplinary sanctions, including suspension or termination of a contract.
- 1.3. The Trust collects, holds, and creates significant amounts of data and information. This policy explains the Trust requirements to retain certain information and provides guidance on appropriate disposal.
- 1.4. This policy covers all data that the Trust holds or has control over. This includes physical data such as hard copy documents, contracts, notebooks, letters and invoices. It also includes electronic data such as emails, electronic documents, audio and video recordings. It applies to both personal data and non-personal data. In this policy we refer to this information and these records collectively as "data".
- 1.5. This policy also covers data that is held by third parties on the Trust’s behalf, for example cloud storage providers. It also extends to data that belongs to us but is held by employees or volunteers on their personal devices (e.g. personal mobile phones) in accordance with our acceptable use policy..
- 1.6. We are committed to the principles of data protection including the principle that personal data is only to be retained for as long as necessary for the purpose for which the data is processed (the ‘storage limitation’ principle).
- 1.7. The Data Protection Officer (DPO) and Head of Operations are responsible for overseeing the implementation of this policy and for monitoring our compliance. If you have any concerns or questions regarding retention of data or data disposal or need to report non-compliance, please contact the DPO via: DPO@pdet.org.uk

2. Types of data

- 2.1. Retention Schedule data: Certain types of data that we routinely process are listed in the Retention Schedule in the Appendix. There are various reasons why we retain this data, for example, we may have a legal requirement to retain it, or we may need it in order to provide education to our pupils.

2.2. Disposable data: Disposable (day-to-day) data consists of data that serves only a temporary purpose and is not a part of any formal or official record included in the Retention Schedule. Such data should be deleted or discarded by the user once it has served its temporary purpose (please see the Appendix / paragraph 4 below for more information on retention of this type of data).

Examples of disposable data include:

- 2.2.1. duplicates of originals that have not been annotated;
- 2.2.2. preliminary drafts of documents that do not represent significant steps or decisions and are not required to be retained;
- 2.2.3. manuals, training materials and other printed materials obtained from sources outside of the Trust and retained for reference purposes;
- 2.2.4. Spam, junk mail and day-to-day emails that are no longer relevant to the needs of the Trust.

2.3. Personal data: Both Retention Schedule data and Disposable data may contain personal data (i.e. data that identifies or is capable of identifying living individuals). Data protection laws require us to retain personal data for no longer than is necessary for the purposes for which it is processed (this is known as the principle of storage limitation). See the Appendix / paragraph 4 below for more information on retention periods for personal data.

3. Principles of data retention

3.1. Through our data retention practices, we aim to meet the following commitments:

- 3.1.1. comply with relevant legal and regulatory requirements to retain data;
- 3.1.2. comply with our data protection obligations;
- 3.1.3. handle, store and dispose of data responsibly and securely;
- 3.1.4. create and retain data where we need this to operate the Trust effectively, but not create or retain data without good reason;
- 3.1.5. allocate appropriate resources and responsibilities to data retention, regularly monitor compliance with this policy and update this policy when required.

4. Document retention period

- 4.1. The Retention Schedule contained in the Appendix sets out the categories of data that we hold, the length of time that we need to retain them, and the reason for this.
- 4.2. Any data that is part of any of the categories listed in the Retention Schedule, must be retained for the relevant amount of time indicated in the Retention Schedule. It must not be retained beyond the period indicated in the Retention Schedule, unless a valid reason (including notice to preserve documents for contemplated litigation or other special situation - see paragraph 7 below) calls for its continued retention.
- 4.3. Where personal data is listed in the Retention Schedule, we have considered the principle of storage limitation and balanced this against our requirements to retain the data.
- 4.4. The Retention Schedule does not set out retention periods for Disposable data. This type of data should only be retained for as long as it is needed. Once it no longer has any value to the Trust, it should be securely disposed of. Where personal data is disposable information, you must consider the principle of storage limitation when deciding whether to retain this data.
- 4.5. If data is not listed in the Retention Schedule, it is likely that it should be classed as disposable data. However, if you consider that there is an omission in the Retention Schedule, or if you are unsure whether to retain a certain record, contact the DPO for further guidance.

5. Storage and back-up of data

- 5.1. Our data must be stored in a safe, secure, and accessible manner. Any documents that are essential to the Trust's operations must be duplicated and/or backed up regularly on the cloud, or a separate network/network segment.
- 5.2. If a document has reached the end of its stated retention period, but you are of the view that it should be retained for longer, please refer to the DPO, who will decide whether it should be retained, for how long, and note the new time limit and reasons for extension.

6. Disposal of data

6.1. General

- 6.1.1. When a document reaches the end of its retention period, it should be deleted / disposed of in accordance with this policy.

6.1.2. It may be necessary to delete certain personal data before the end of the retention period in response to a request for erasure. Any such requests should be forwarded to the DPO who will decide how to proceed.

6.1.3. The DPO and Head of Operations are responsible for the process of identifying the data that has reached its retention period and its safe destruction.

6.2. Confidential waste

6.2.1. The destruction of confidential data (confidential documents will include financial, staff and workforce-related records, and other documents containing sensitive information) must be conducted securely. i.e. in such a way that it cannot be read or reconstituted.

6.2.2. In the case of manual records such as paper records, these should be securely shredded (i.e. using a cross-cutting shredder or via a confidential waste collection service).

6.2.3. In the case of digital storage devices such as DVDs, these should be securely cut and hard discs ground down.

6.2.4. Any records that contain personal data or special category personal data should be treated as confidential.

6.3. Non-confidential data

6.3.1. Non-confidential hard copy data may be destroyed by recycling.

6.4. Electronic data

6.4.1. The destruction of electronic data must be overseen by the Chief Operating Officer (COO) who will decide whether the relevant data should be deleted irretrievably, archived or (in cases where permanent deletion is temporarily impossible for technical reasons) 'put beyond use' (with appropriate safeguards in place and commitment for permanent deletion, when it becomes possible).

6.5. Routine deletion

6.5.1. Certain data may be routinely archived by the computer systems. Should you want to retrieve any information, or prevent this happening in a particular circumstance, please contact the DPO.

6.5.2. You should always consider the following factors when deciding on retention or disposal:

- 6.5.2.1. has the information come to the end of its useful life?
- 6.5.2.2. is this data included in the Retention Schedule? Is there a legal requirement or other justification to keep this data and if so, for what period? (Refer to the Appendix for more information.)
- 6.5.2.3. would this data be likely to be needed in the case of any legal proceedings? (Is the information contentious, does it relate to an incident that could potentially give rise to legal proceedings?)
- 6.5.2.4. would the document be useful for the Trust as a precedent, learning document, or for performance management processes?
- 6.5.2.5. is the document of historic or statistical significance? If it includes personal data, is it possible to retain it in an anonymised or pseudonymised form?
- 6.5.2.6. are there any special circumstances set out in paragraph 7 below?

7. Special circumstances – preservation of documents

7.1. The destruction of data must stop immediately if you believe, or you are informed that certain records may be relevant to current litigation or contemplated litigation (that is, a dispute that could result in litigation), government investigation, audit, or any other event. In such circumstances, you must preserve and not delete, dispose, destroy, or change those records, including emails and other electronic documents, until the DPO determines those records are no longer needed. Preserving documents includes suspending any requirements in the Retention Schedule and preserving the integrity of the electronic files or other format in which the records are kept.

7.1.1. If you believe this exception may apply, or have any questions regarding whether it may apply, please contact the DPO.

7.2. You may be asked to suspend any routine data disposal procedures in connection with certain other types of events, such as receipt of a data subject request, a restructure or the replacement of our information technology systems. Destruction may begin again once the DPO lifts the requirement for preservation.

7.3. Under the terms of the Independent Inquiry into Child Sexual Abuse (“IICSA”), it is an offence to destroy any records that might be of relevance to the inquiry. This overrides any other requirements, including rights of a data subject under the UK GDPR. If you believe that the records held (either relating to staff or pupils) relate to the inquiry, then they must be retained indefinitely and the Trust should ensure that these records are kept securely and are not deleted.

8. OTHER RELEVANT POLICIES

8.1. This policy supplements and should be read in conjunction with our other policies and procedures in force from time to time, including the Data Protection Policy, the IT Controls (Information Security) Policy, and the Acceptable Use Policy.
